Wicca.

Wicca draws from the old traditions of witchcraft. While Witchcraft and Wicca are similar in many respects, they are not the same. One can be a Witch, without being a Wiccan - Wicca is a recognized religion, while Witchcraft itself is not considered a religion. Thus, Wicca might best be described as a modern religion, based on ancient Witchcraft traditions.

New Age.

New Age is a term applied to a range of spiritual or religious beliefs and practices that developed in Western nations during the 1970s. Precise scholarly definitions of the New Age differ in their emphasis, largely as a result of its highly eclectic structure. Although analytically often considered to be religious, those involved in it typically emphasize beliefs outside the mainstream (such as reincarnation, holism, pantheism, and occultism) that advance alternative approaches to "spirituality" and rarely use the term "New Age" themselves. Theologically, the New Age typically adopts a belief in a holistic form of divinity that imbues the entire universe, including human beings themselves. There is a strong emphasis on the spiritual authority of the self. This is accompanied by a common belief in a wide variety of semi-divine non-human entities, such as angels and masters, with whom humans can communicate, particularly through the form of channeling.
